

eWEEK.com ENTERPRISE NEWS & REVIEWS ZIFF DAVIS INTERNET
NEWS • REVIEWS • OPINIONS • CASE STUDIES • TOPICS • INDUSTRIES • BUYERS GUIDE

SUBSCRIBE TO eWEEK

 Email is more important than ever.
So is managing it.

SUBSCRIBE TODAY

Home > Topics > IT Management > Opinions > Web Surfing at Work? You're Out!

By: Jim Rapoza
March 27, 2006

Web Surfing at Work? You're Out!

Opinion: Will baseball season mean that worker productivity will come to a screeching halt?

At this time of year, many people's minds turn to thoughts of pleasant weather and the great American pastime. Winter's over, and it's time to follow the boys of summer.

To many of you, this is probably a good thing, but not for us here at the research firm of Rapoza, Rapoza and Rapoza. Instead of sunny days filled with hot dogs, grills, and home runs, we see a giant

► Be the first to comment on this article

RELATED LINKS

- IBM Aims to Boost Productivity
- 'Star Wars' Plot May Strike IT Productivity
- Productivity Applications
- Speech-Enabled Apps Help Companies Boost Productivity

NEW WHITE PAPERS SPONSORED CONTENT

- An Open Approach to Advanced Voice Applications for Cisco CallManager

ADVERTISEMENT

