

A photograph of a rose branch with a spider web. The branch has several leaves, some of which are damaged or eaten. The background is a soft-focus green field under a hazy sky. The text is overlaid on the right side of the image.

The Summer without Summer

Summer of 1816