A 6x7 grid of 42 squares. Each square is white with a thin black border. In the top-right corner of each square, there is a smaller, semi-transparent gray square. The gray square is positioned such that its bottom-left corner is at the top-right corner of the white square, creating a layered effect. The gray square is slightly offset from the top and right edges of the white square.
