The diagram consists of two main sections separated by a vertical line. Each section contains four horizontal bars. In each section, the bars are arranged in a staggered fashion. The first bar in each section is a light blue background bar. The second bar is a darker blue foreground bar, which is offset to the right. The third bar is another light blue background bar, and the fourth bar is a darker blue foreground bar, also offset to the right. The overall layout suggests a comparison or a sequence of events across two categories.
