Null Pointer

A NULL pointer is a pointer that does not point to any memory location. It represents an invalid memory location.

When a NULL value is assigned to a pointer, then the pointer is considered as NULL pointer.

EXAMPLE:

```c int main() {
    int *ptr = NULL;          ⟵——————————— THIS IS A NULL POINTER return 0;
}
```

16 Data Structures