HTML Images

- Images are primarily made up of three attributes
- the <img> tag
  - src attribute lets the page know what image we want to view
  - alt attribute provides extra information if the image cannot be seen on the webpage for any reason
- to see an image on the webpage we need to link to the image
- this involves telling the webpage where it is and what it is called.