

2020 BUGATTI CENTODIECI

The Centodieci is a tribute to the Bugatti EB110, which earned the fastest supercar of its time when it was released in 1991. Under the hood of the wedge-shaped carbon-fiber-bodied Centodieci resides a 1,600-hp, 8.0-liter, quad-turbocharged, W-16 engine linked to an all-wheel drivetrain via a seven-speed DSG gearbox. The car will launch to 60 mph in less than 2.4 seconds, with a top speed of 236 mph. Bugatti only built 10 of these exceptional cars. ■
