Google Maps API

The Events Calendar comes with an API key for basic maps functionality. If you'd like to use more advanced features like custom map pins or dynamic map loads, you'll need to get your own Google Maps API key. Read more.

You are using The Events Calendar's built-in Google Maps API key.

If you do not add your own API key, the built-in API key will always populate this field and some map-related functionality will be limited (click here for details).
