New Year's Left Right Poem

Start the game by passing the gift in the direction of your choice. As the host reads the poem, whenever you hear the word LEFT, keep passing the gift to the LEFT until you hear the word RIGHT. Then, change the direction and keep passing the gift to the RIGHT. Continue this pattern until the entire poem is read. The person holding the gift at the end gets to keep it. Have fun!

As we welcome the New Year with open arms,
Let's pass around a gift with all of our charms.
To the LEFT, we'll pass the gift with might,
And to the RIGHT we'll pass it with great delight.

LEFT behind are worries, carried away by the tide,
A clean slate, where aspirations and hopes reside.
The journey ahead unfolds, like a path open wide,
With each stride, embracing the journey with pride.

To the RIGHT, where opportunities gleam,
A realm of possibilities, like a vivid dream.
Reach for the stars, let your ambitions beam,
As the New Year dawns, like a luminous stream.

LEFT are the doubts that held you confined,
Embrace the courage, let it be redefined.
In the realm of possibilities, beautifully designed,
Forge ahead, with a heart unconfined.

To the RIGHT, where kindness can mend,
A world in need, where compassion can ascend.
Extend a hand, be a loyal friend,
In the symphony of life, let empathy blend.

As the clock strikes twelve, in the shimmering light,
LEFT are the shadows, ushering in what's RIGHT.
In this New Year's embrace, where stars alight,
May your journey be filled with love, joy and delight.

As the gift now makes its way around,
We'll spread kindness that knows no bound.
Let's keep the tradition with all our might,
Passing the gift to the LEFT and to the RIGHT.

Let's raise a glass to what's to come,
Behind the past,
And minds set strong,
This year a blast.

From the old year we LEFT,
We step in the new.
With love, abundance and cheer,
Here for me and you.

New Year
