Judge Torres grew up in a family dedicated to public service. Her father, former Councilman, Pete Torres, Jr., took on the establishment in the 60's and became known as a great "voice of the people." Her mother, Yolanda, a retired public school teacher, was the first Latina elected to the State Board of Education in the 70's.

After a distinguished law career of her own, County Commissioners Paul Elizondo, Chico Rodriguez, Tommy Adkisson, and Judge Nelson Wolff unanimously appointed Tina to the bench. Today, she continues the family legacy by making sure everyone receives a fair chance to have their voice heard in the courtroom.
