
businesses and governments to use ICT to their benefit". In general, there are several benchmarking indices at the global level those calculated by the United Nation, The Economist Intelligence Unit (EIU), World Bank and many others.

3 Stages of e-Government

project fits in the overall evolution o government strategy".

"Stage 1: Presence: This stage is classified by a simple information-providing web site of a passive nature, sometimes described as "brochure ware," indicating the same level of functions as a paper brochure.

Stage 2: Interaction: The interaction stage offers simple interactions between