

Steadfast

Deep inside the facility, Lis stood before the control terminal - all the signs pointed to a system breach. But what was taken, and by who? The air popped twice - the squad mate on her flank fell in a heap. Lis snapped the rifle to her chest, spun round, and opened fire. She dropped the marine, but more were already pouring into the room. Turned out if she wanted answers, she was going to have to fight for them.

 EQUIP

