

Task of even traditional linguistics...

- Is to develop grammars of human languages – and more generally
- To understand the relationship between data and grammars.

That's the goal, at least – we're exceedingly far from it, though.