

Title

The teacher tells the class to pick partners for group work, but both of your friends picked other partners and you don't have anyone to work with. What do you do?

You are trying to focus on taking a test, but the noise from the hallway is distracting. What do you do?

Someone is eating food and you hate the smell so much you are starting to feel so mad. What do you do?

Someone tells you something that you think is wrong and you do not agree with them. What do you do?

Everyone in your class goes outside for recess, but you didn't finish your work yet and have to stay inside. You are feeling frustrated. What do you do?

You did bad on a test and need a parent to sign it. You are worried your parents will be mad. What do you do?

A friend asks to work on a project with you, but you want to work alone. You don't want to hurt your friends feelings. What do you do?

Someone in class is making a noise that is making you so angry. What do you do?

You see your friend cheating while playing a game with other friends. What do you do?