

1. If you look under POETRY, do you find a list of every book of poetry in the library?
Yes, you would find every book of poetry in the library, online books, video recordings, and also cassette recordings of poetry.

2. Does the library have any books illustrated by Rockwell Kent?
Yes,

Chaucer, G. (1931). A birthday book, by Rockwell Kent. New York, Random House.

Chaucer, G., Kent, R., & Nicholson, J.U. (1934). Canterbury tales/
Geoffrey Chaucer; rendered into modern English by J.U. Nicholson; with illustrations by Rockwell Kent; and an introduction by Gordon Hall Gerould. GardenCity, N. Y. : Garden City Publishing Co., Inc.

Shakespeare, W., Kent, R., Morley, C., & Wright, W.A. (1936). The complete works of William Shakespeare; the Cambridge edition text, as edited by William Aldis Wright, including the Temple notes; illustrated by Rockwell
Kent, with a preface by Christopher Morley. Garden City, N.Y., Garden City Publishing Co.

Tharaud, B., & Kent, R. (1990). Beowulf/ translated with an introduction by Barry Tharaud ; reproduction of illustration by Rockwell Kent. Niwot, CO: University Press of Colorado.

3. Under what subjects do you find: a) books about the middle ages; b) a history of England; c) discussions of American relations with Russia; d) African-Americans in the U.S.; e) Asians in Africa?

a) Middle Ages 500-1500 biography references

B)

Great Britain -- History -- James II, 1685-1688.

Great Britain -- History -- William and Mary, 1689-1702.

Trials -- Great Britain.