

SUNDAY	MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY	SATURDAY
1 People in glass houses shouldn't throw stones.	2 	3 March for the World Series!	4 Send the world of reading.	5 All that glitters is not gold.	6 "There was an old woman who lived in a..."	7 Corn happens again in Indian Summer.
8 Come with me to a looking glass.	9 Have you ever seen a bellhop?	10 Miss me, my dear, my dear.	11 	12 	13 "A little, a little, a little..."	14 Are you saving to buy Christmas presents?
15 Up with the sun, down with the moon.	16 See signs are getting smaller and the winter.	17 	18 Thank! Thank! and please go South.	19 Your year is up, but the year is not.	20 "The world and the pantomime are in one..."	21 Child-like, sweet, the most gentle the town.
22 	23  The night is dark and full of stars.	24 National Millions Day	25 	26 Mistakes are fun when there's no one.	27  "Mistakes are fun when there's no one..."	28
29 Let's look for apples in a tree.	30 Make a paper bag mask for Halloween.	31  Halloween	It was and then and then of June, And flowers of June together, To come that for me love (October's light like winter!) —Helen Hunt Jackson			 DISNEY

CHICKEN

100 CHICKEN

October is the brightest month in all the year. The day is a brilliant blue. The leaves are leaving and gold.

In October, we are making seeds blowing along like tiny parachutes. Try look for Indian Summer, with its warm, busy days and corn harvest. We watch for the fall harvest month of all, we wait for Halloween, with its glowing pumpkin faces, friendly ghosts, black cats, and witches.