

```

114    /// <summary>
115    /// Gets the <c>updatedAt</c> field as a parsed DateTimeOffset, returns
116    /// null if the <c>updatedAt</c> field is missing.
117    /// </summary>
118    /// <param name="item"></param>
119    /// <returns></returns>
120    1 reference
    public static DateTimeOffset? GetUpdatedAt(JObject item)
121    {
122        string updatedAt = item.Value<string>(SystemProperties.JsonUpdatedAtProperty);
123
124        if (updatedAt == null)
125        {
126            return null;
127        }
128        // Throw an error if the service returned a bad date format.
129        return DateTimeOffset.Parse(updatedAt);
130    }

```

```

131
132    /// <summary>
133    /// Returns the version of the instance.
134    /// </summary>
135    /// <param name="instance">The subject ins
136    /// <returns>The version of the instance,
137    1 reference
    public static string GetVersion(JObject in 138    {
139        foreach (JProperty property in instance.
140        {
141            if (string.Equals(property.Name, Syste
142            {
143                return instance.Value<string>(proper
144            }

```

Exception Thrown

System.FormatException: 'String '06/22/2022 11:01:27' was not recognized as a valid DateTime.'

This exception was originally thrown at this call stack:
[External Code]

View Details | Copy Details | Start Live Share session...

Exception Settings

☒ Break when this exception type is thrown

Except when thrown from:

☐ Microsoft.Datasync.Client.dll

Open Exception Settings | Edit Conditions