

VISUAL ACUITY AND PERCEPTION

- ▶ Perception is the process by which we organize and interpret the patterns of stimuli in our environment, the immediate intuitive recognition, as of an aesthetic quality. The separation of two lines placed end to end can be perceived more readily than the separation of 2 lines placed side by side.

Acuity increases with increase in intensity of illumination.

