

Who is it for?

Anyone who rides a motorbike can increase their confidence and skills by enrolling in an IAM RoadSmart Advanced Rider course.

You may be enthusiastic about riding, enjoy a challenge or would like to develop your skills on the road.

It's all about providing you with the know-how, experience and understanding so you can enjoy riding in all environments and quickly adapt to situations as they happen.

As long as you have held your licence for three months you can sign up.

You will learn a series of techniques and skills to develop awareness of your bike, the road and your surroundings.

Identifying the essential information in any situation and learning how to apply this to ensure you choose the right position on the road, ride at an appropriate speed, select the right gear and accelerate where appropriate is all part of advanced riding. It may sound simple enough, but applying this knowledge can make a huge difference.

Develop your skills to stay safe on the road

97% found riding more enjoyable

61% avoided an incident

70% of riders improved their skills

94% reported improved use of road space

99% experienced the benefits of advanced riding

What can I expect?

Sign up and you'll receive a welcome pack and course manual, followed by an introduction to your nearest local IAM RoadSmart group. Our riding mentors will accompany you on a number of observed rides.

Each training ride lasts a couple of hours and you'll focus on specific skills to develop across a wide range of techniques and scenarios. You may be asked to make a small contribution to your local group observer's fuel costs. The amount varies by IAM group. When you're ready, you'll take the advanced test.

Independent research has shown 70% of those who received coaching showed significantly better skills in key areas such as position, motorway riding and hazard anticipation. You'll learn about riding at night, how snow or ice can affect handling, and motorway riding.

The test takes around 90 minutes and covers 30-40 miles along a variety of roads, including city, country and motorways. You'll negotiate hazards using the technique you've developed, and will need to show confident, safe riding, optimum road positioning and observation. Take the challenge today and increase your skills to a whole new level.

“I'm a much better rider now. It's good fun, something to get your teeth into and I've been shown some amazing advice on how to handle them.” Phil Colwill
