

so and suchso + adjective

The theatres were so dangerous!

such + a / an + adjective + noun

It was such an uncomfortable experience.

so and such with thatFact

The seats were so uncomfortable

Plays were such a popular form of entertainment

Result

that rich people paid for cushions.

that the theatres were always crowded.

We use so and such to emphasize adjectives in the same way we use very. We use that after both so and such to introduce a result.

- ★ The theatre was so smelly in the summer.
- ★ Shakespeare was such a good writer that everyone loved his plays.

SOSO + adj/adv

The film was SO boring.
It all happened SO quickly.

SO + many/few + plural countable noun

There were SO MANY people.
She's got SO FEW friends!

SO + much/little + uncountable nouns

I've got SO MUCH work.
I've got SO LITTLE time!

SO + adj/adverb ... + that... + result

Our teacher is SO good THAT I'm sure
I'll pass my exams this year.

SUCHSUCH A + (adj) + countable noun

It was SUCH A surprise to see her again.
That was SUCH A good concert.

SUCH + (adj) + uncountable noun

He talked SUCH nonsense that they laughed.
It was SUCH easy work that we finished in five minutes.

SUCH + adjective + plural noun

They were SUCH slow workers that they didn't finish their work.

SUCH (a) + (adj) + noun ... + that... + result

It was SUCH A beautiful day THAT we decided to go to the park.